To the true mother's heart, the thought never occurs that it is her duty to do for her child. Surely no mother ever felt it her duty to minister to the wants of her children, for it is a pleasure, a joy to a true mother's heart to provide, to sacrifice for her child, and it never presents itself to her mind as a duty. #### NO INTEREST IN RELIGION.

The Modern Young Man is Bored When the Truths of the Gospel Are Discussed.

Nowadays the grandson of the Bible worshipers of bygone days, still nominally a Christian, an educated young fellow familiar with the literature of half a dozen countries, probably never has read a chapter in it and never will. He has a vague idea that the Book was lately overthrown by the Higher Criticism. But as to what the criticism is, or what the Book, he has but vague ideas. They bore him, and in his hasty march through life he has learned the trick of ridding his path of all things that bore him. The literature of his work, whatever that may ee, does not bore him,reports of stocks or of new microbes or of findings in court. These things he understands. What have these abstractions, he says, to do with life-life? His work is his life. Work now puts a stress and strain on men of which our ancestors knew little. The American is in the thick of it .- An American Mother, in the February Ladies' Home Journal.
